Turkey Burn a Thanksgiving Tradition

Enjoy a traditional Thanksgiving meal and all the calories that come with it, knowing about another Thanksgiving tradition: The Turkey Burn!

Eugene Recreation invites everyone to this water fitness class on Saturday, Nov. 29, 9:30 - 10:30 a.m., at both Echo Hollow and Sheldon pools. Water fitness is a great way to exercise with little or no impact. The two pools offer 11 different water fitness classes for a range of abilities and effort from Water Walking to Cardio Challenge. Burning off that big Thanksgiving dinner is the perfect reason to give water fitness a try.

The Turkey Burn is drop-in; registration is not required. There is a $5 fee. For more information, contact Aquatics Section Manager Rich Fay at 541-682-5525.

50 Street Trees to Be Planted Near West Eugene EmX Corridor

Dozens of community volunteers organized by Lane Transit District and Friends of Trees will plant 50 new street trees in Eugene on Saturday, Dec. 6. The new trees will enhance the neighborhoods between West 5th and West 8th avenues, east of Garfield Street, adjacent to the West Eugene EmX corridor.

This event will supplement the EmX project landscape plan, created in collaboration with City staff, and will provide more trees along the corridor than exist today. The new trees will have more room to grow in better soil conditions, and offer more diversity. Volunteers can sign up for the volunteer event using an online LTD Planting Pre-registration Form, or contact Friends of Trees at 541-632-3683.

For more information visit the West Eugene EmX project website at weemx.ltd.org, the Friends of Trees website at friendsoftrees.org, or call Mark Snyder, the City's urban forester, at 541-682-4819.
