Honorable Mayor Kitty Piercy
Council President Greg Evans
Council Vice-President Alan Zelenka
City Councilors

I am honored to present the 2015 Annual Report of the Office of the Independent Police Auditor (OPA). This report covers the period from January 1, 2015 – December 31, 2015. 2015 was again marked by a stable, dedicated and hardworking Civilian Review Board (CRB), investigative work by EPD's Internal Affairs Section that continued to meet expectations, and decisive actions on sustained complaints. With minimal impact caused by personnel changes, all entities were able to focus on the work that needs to be accomplished to meet Council and community goals.

We remain constrained by Oregon Public Records laws that restrict our ability to communicate with optimal transparency to the community about important issues. We aim to be as transparent as possible with our weekly newsletter and annual report. The keys to building and maintaining community trust are transparency and open government. Laws that shield the public from openness and transparency feed portals of distrust and discontent and block the opportunities to identify good work done by many employees.

This report includes analysis of complaints and trends, decisions on classifications of complaints, policy and adjudication recommendations, the work of the Civilian Review Board (CRB), community outreach and education, and discussion of major cases. Statistical profiles of complaints, allegations and findings are provided with commentary. One issue of note is a slight decrease in overall complaints, as well as in internally generated complaints. Our opinion is that the number of external complaints is indicative of the wide knowledge the community has of our office, the historic nature of Eugene in engaging in civic affairs, and public confidence (albeit not universal) in the complaints system. We interpret the rate of internal complaints as an EPD expression of confidence in the oversight system, and it has largely been accomplished both through our office's monitoring of Blue Team entries (data software detailing use of force, property damage, vehicle pursuits and accidents, and similar incidents) and increased identification of clear expectations of EPD supervisors and command staff in understanding their responsibilities in reporting potential misconduct. These successive advancements have helped direct our focus toward higher value work.

Beyond complaint resolution, we reviewed 186 uses of force for the calendar year. We work with the Police Commission and EPD to promote policy improvements, focused on emphasizing the training and skills necessary to successfully navigate interactions with the community. The OPA and the CRB meet and continue to work with external groups to learn about their interests and the services they provide.

We wish to thank the Mayor and City Council for their support in actively and vigorously participating in the oversight process. Also, we wish to thank the City's Executive Team, and other support staff for all of the "back room" functions they provide including but not limited to finance, budget, information technology and human resources. Without them, we would have a more difficult time providing customer service to our community.

Staff work from Deputy Auditor Leia Pitcher and Senior Program Coordinator Vicki Cox has been nothing short of exemplary. We look forward to welcoming our new Community Engagement Coordinator for greater outreach to our community. Finally, my congratulations and sincere gratitude to the members of the CRB for their hard work on difficult issues and their tireless volunteer efforts to the community to assist us with this process. They take valuable time from their personal and professional lives to give back to the community under circumstances that at times can be stressful and controversial.

Many Eugene police officers work tirelessly for the greater good of our community. These efforts should be recognized. In addition, we have seen, although not necessarily measurable, upward trending in supervisor engagement in the daily activities of officers. No one is mistake free. The vast majority of police who make mistakes of the heart — meaning they have no malice and are not attempting to shirk responsibility — are treated fairly and sent back to work. Some have come forward on their own to admit mistakes or lapses in judgment. At the same time, those who commit acts with malice and forethought are treated with swift and decisive action.

We welcome your comments and suggestions regarding how we can improve this report.

Respectfully submitted,

Mark Gissiner
Police Auditor

Our Mission

To provide an accessible, safe, impartial and responsive intake system for complaints against Eugene Police Department employees and to ensure accountability, fairness, transparency and trust in the complaint system.

Our Purpose

The Police Auditor has three broad mandates: 1) to receive and classify complaints of police misconduct; 2) to audit the investigations based on these complaints; and 3) to analyze trends and recommend improvements to police services in this city. In addition, the Police Auditor supports a Civilian Review Board, which provides valuable input about the fairness and diligence of the investigation process. Ultimately, the goal of the Civilian Review Board is to make the system of police accountability more transparent and increase public confidence in the manner that police conduct their work.

Executive Summary

This is the Office of the Independent Police Auditor's annual report to the City Council covering January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015. For detailed information about all aspects of our office, please visit our website at: <http://www.eugene-or.gov/policeauditor>

The Office of the Independent Police Auditor (OPA) was established by charter amendment in 2005 to provide an external mechanism for the independent receipt, classification, and routing of complaints against sworn and non-sworn employees of the Eugene Police Department (EPD); contract for outside investigations when necessary; and provide monitoring of the EPD internal investigations of allegations of misconduct and supervisors' investigations of service complaints. The Charter Amendment also authorized the auditor to: make recommendations regarding adjudications, policies and training to the Police Chief; prepare reports concerning complaint trends and police practices; and act as a liaison and staff support for a civilian review board. The Police Auditor is hired and supervised by the Eugene City Council.

Eugene has an oversight system based on the parliamentary model of oversight, in which a professional and experienced police oversight auditor is employed by the legislative branch, the City Council. Under the "parliamentary model," a greater separation of powers occurs, which is healthy for the oversight process. To enhance the system, Council appoints a civilian review board which gives a community perspective on the police complaints process. This combination creates a sound structure for police accountability when implemented effectively, fairly and without bias.

Our office is the intake point for all complaints against employees of EPD, including complaints generated internally. We independently, impartially and thoroughly monitor the investigation process; identify ways to improve the complaint process; provide recommendations to the police chief and police commission on policies, training and trends; and provide staffing and counsel to the civilian review board on cases and policy issues. Our office monitors the overall integrity and fairness of the administrative investigative process, and in the course of such examination, reviews how citizen complaints are investigated and resolved.

Eugene's Civilian Review Board (CRB) is designed to provide transparency and help ensure public confidence in the police complaint process. The Board evaluates the work of the independent Police Auditor, and reviews complaints to provide a community perspective about whether complaints are handled fairly and with due diligence. Their annual report will also be available on the CRB's website at: <http://www.eugene-or.gov/CRB>

2015 saw a decrease from the record high number of complaints we received in 2014. We received and monitored 394 complaints in 2015; this marked a return to 2013 levels and remained a significant increase over the past five years (over 20%). The oversight process continues to evolve; we observed continued improvements in the quality of investigations and EPD policies, increased responsibilities for EPD supervisors, and incremental progress in the documenting of demographics for police contacts. While there has been a slight decrease in complaints received, the implementation of the BlueTeam incident tracking software has resulted in our office reviewing 186 reportable uses of force in 2015. Reviews of uses of force include, at a minimum, reading supervisor and/or officer reports; frequently, reviews include viewing of in-car video (ICV) or body-worn video (BWV) and review of witness statements.

The Auditor’s Office and Civilian Review Board (CRB) were constructed primarily as a citizen complaint-based model. While there is a brief portion of the legislation and protocols that gives the Auditor some latitude to initiate a complaint, the primary focus is on citizen complaints. While we believe that Eugene’s oversight system is an effective one, it can be limiting as compared to a more inspector-general-type model. Our office ultimately initiated five complaints in 2015; we are also gratified to see continued representation of internally-reported complaints (12% of the complaints we received in 2015 were from internal sources).

The CRB gained two new members in July 2015. Throughout the year, the membership provided thoughtful and candid discussion on a number of cases, related training topics, and the transparency of the group. We appreciate that members of the CRB dedicate their time and energy to improving policing in the community and gaining community trust. The CRB held nine meetings in 2015. Case reviews involved a significant width of issues; whether based on the conduct of individual officers or those that had significant policy implications. The work of the CRB is more fully addressed in their annual report.

Leia Pitcher and Vicki Cox provide excellent customer service and efficiency in working to achieve our mandate. Managing nearly 400 complaints over the year can stretch our resources. Few oversight organizations in the United States receive as many complaints per capita as our office, demonstrating the expectations of our community and the knowledge of our activities in the community.

City	Population	Complaints	Complaints per Capita
Denver	649,495	396	.0006
Portland	609,456	432*	.0007
San Jose	998,537	303	.0003
San Francisco	837,442	728*	.0009
Eugene	159,190	394	.0025

*only 2014 numbers available

Our complaints returned to 2013 levels in 2015, with 394 in 2015 compared to 398 in 2013. Allegations remained steady from last year’s low of 24, with 26 in 2015. Classifications of complaints as allegations of misconduct generally occur following a more thorough preliminary investigation undertaken by our office. Our ability to perform a thorough preliminary investigation has been facilitated mainly by (1) implementation of in-car video (ICV) and body-worn video (BWV), and improved accountability for their use; and (2) supervisor investigation of incidents such as uses of force, vehicle pursuits, and vehicle accidents using BlueTeam (a software program that allows our office to more easily access those reports).

We have noticed as we review investigations of allegations of misconduct that the depth, breadth, and overall quality of the investigations has expanded and improved. Allegations are those cases which are investigated by the Internal Affairs Section of EPD and usually require far more comprehensive investigations and time. The balance of complaints (called service complaints, policy complaints and inquiries), are handled through a process similar to an alternative dispute resolution process, in which a supervisor will discuss the complaint with the reporting party and the involved employee and attempt to facilitate understanding between the parties. The satisfaction rate for this process, as indicated in returned surveys, remains relatively high. Inquiries are most often classified as such by the Auditor as a fact-finding tool to determine how a complaint should be classified. At times, this process has concluded that, in fact, there is no basis for a complaint. (Please see below for further discussion and statistics related to classification and dismissal of complaints.)

Intake Processes and Accomplishments: As stated above, the Auditor's Office was constructed primarily as a citizen complaint-based model. A complaint process under this design has the potential to create gaps, unless our office and EPD are willing to generate complaints as well. I believe that these gaps are lessened by improved supervisory efforts in EPD utilizing Blue Team, technology upgrades to the data tracking system, and open and honest communication between EPD's command staff, the EPD Office of Professional Standards, and our office regarding individual behavior issues, systemic enhancements and policy weaknesses.

We spend hours working with complainants to navigate and understand the complaint process; and assist them in understanding the roles of the courts, their attorneys and how their roles differ from the auditor's office. Returned survey data indicates a high satisfaction level with the customer service provided by the Auditor's office (86% of those who return surveys believed our office was helpful; please see below for further statistics on customer surveys).

Internally-reported complaints continued to constitute a significant portion of our complaints (12%, or 49 complaints). I believe this is indicative of the oversight process, at least to some degree, bringing EPD supervisory expectations to a higher level through reporting of incidents, including uses of force. If the Auditor or EPD command staff review a report in Blue Team and identify potential performance issues or policy violations, an investigation is initiated.

Anecdotally, we continue to work to improve the community's understanding of the purpose and limitations of this office. Initially, community members may seek out our office in the hopes that we can serve as their advocate in the justice process (largely related to violations and misdemeanors being adjudicated in municipal court). Our role is not that of a court advocate, but that of a neutral evaluator of police conduct, and whether that conduct violates law, policies, and/or procedures. External organizations, on the other hand, can play a key role in community understanding; examples include community forums and "know your rights" trainings, recently offered by the NAACP and the Civil Defense Law Center, respectively. These activities assist in engaging the community on police/community issues and concerns.

Classification and re-classification of complaints are solely the responsibility of the Auditor, and while we believe that those decisions are fair and neutral, we invite and encourage discussion of those decisions with community members, CRB members, and other stakeholders. We hold EPD employees to high standards, as does the community. Setting high expectations honors employees and shows faith in their ability to provide the highest level of service to the community. It is likely that complaints classified as allegations of misconduct may not be classified as such in many other jurisdictions (such as use of pepper spray, pointing a Taser but not firing, which is considered a rather benign use of force in most policing jurisdictions). However, we aim to keep classification standards in line with community expectations as part of our focus on building community trust. We recognize and appreciate the impact of our decisions on reporting parties and their families, community, officers, their families and the other interested parties. We make these decisions with careful consideration based on our experience, training and policy evaluations, with recognition that our decisions are not always going to satisfy all parties.

Investigations: The quality of internal investigations continues to improve and meet expectations. The current Internal Affairs investigators, supervisor, and staff accept the role of our office; we work to maintain a collaborative relationship and endeavor to make every investigation clear, unbiased, and sound. In 2015, we worked with one investigator just beginning a two-year rotation and one who was in his fourth year, having elected to serve in the unit for an additional two-year rotation. The experience of the latter investigator was invaluable. In addition, the Internal Affairs supervisor completed his third year of service in the position in 2015, gaining valuable experience and insight into the process. The addition of a full-time sergeant to aid in policy writing (implemented in 2013) continued to improve the speed and quality of the policy revision process. The policy sergeant was also able to adeptly handle several policy complaints and inquiries, providing continuity for those reporting parties with frequent questions and concerns related to EPD policies.

Some allegations of criminal conduct are turned over to an outside agency, to avoid any perceptions of bias or favoritism. Generally, the decision of who is the most proper investigator in those incidents is one that our office is included in. Criminal investigations are, as a rule, returned for further investigation and adjudication in an administrative process. I have found no evidence of interference with Internal Affairs investigators by command staff in fulfilling their duties of conducting a fair and objective investigation.

BlueTeam: EPD implemented the use of BlueTeam, a software program that tracks uses of force, vehicle pursuits, vehicle accidents, property damage, and citizen complaints (among others), in 2013. The use of BlueTeam continues to significantly impact the transparency between our office and EPD. With EPD command staff agreeing that full access for our office is important for the success of Blue Team, we are now able to look at all uses of force within 24 hours of their occurrence. We will issue a Use of Force Report for 2015 as soon as practicable.

With our current system we have identified those officers with the highest number of complaint involvement. The best measure in these circumstances is a sustained rate; however, a higher complaint rate does generate supervisory review as discussed at the weekly Auditor's Office/EPD Internal Affairs/EPD command staff meeting. Several past and current investigations are identifying sworn and non-sworn employees who have exhibited a pattern of policy violations.

Communications: We work to foster positive and constructive relationships and partnerships with Council through monthly meetings with the Mayor, Council President and Council Vice-President, respectively; in addition to written and oral reports to Council. Beyond the public civilian review board member meetings, we have reached out by attending various community meetings and neighborhood association meetings. Mark issued a Community Engagement Strategy that our office and the CRB are working to implement. As part of that, we worked with Human Resources in 2015 to create the position of a Community Engagement Coordinator; it is expected that that position will be filled in 2016. It is becoming an industry best practice for oversight agencies to employ such a coordinator, and the complaint load at our office largely monopolizes current staff time.

The customer service aspect of our responsibilities consumes a significant portion of our workload. Identifying and advocating for structural changes in EPD policies, supervision and police interactions has continued to be a priority for us. We have had discussions with other agencies to pool our resources to better expose the community to the work of the Police Commission, Human Rights Commission and the Civilian Review Board. We created new brochures as well as descriptive handouts related to each of the classification categories to better inform customers of the complaint process. All of these new documents have been translated into Spanish. We are working with several community groups, including the Integration Network, to organize community forums with emphasis on the needs of the Latino community.

Again this year, we spent considerable time with individuals apparently suffering temporary or permanent mental health crisis. Mark continues to advocate for greater attention to this matter in his work as a member of the Oregon League of Cities Intergovernmental Committee. In addition, our office supports and will continue to advocate for EPD to better track its interactions with people apparently suffering from mental illness. Such tracking would provide valuable information to the community and government regarding use of police resources; however, the privacy concerns related to such tracking have proven difficult to work around. We will continue to work to find a solution that enables tracking of these contacts.

Performance and Policy Impact: For EPD, of the 26 cases that were opened as allegations, 58% resulted in at least one sustained allegation (more details follow below). For comparison purposes, Cincinnati had a sustained rate of 12%, Boise – 14%, Seattle – 27%, and San Jose – 4%.

We (Auditor and CRB) have advocated, with varying degrees of success, for policy improvements in search and seizure, canine use, vehicle pursuit, Brady issues, use of force, response to people in mental health crisis, and response to unusual behavior by arrested subjects. We are providing commentary to EPD and the community on new policies and data collection to determine the scope of bias-based policing issues. It is a monumental task but one that I am certain will be of great benefit to the community.

Other Accomplishments: We provided staff support and training initiatives to the CRB, spent many hours assisting community members with problems unrelated to police officers, attended public meetings in the community, published a weekly newsletter, and issued a thorough and transparent annual report that captures the work of our office.

Our 2015-2016 fiscal year budget was approximately $460,000. This represents a per capita cost of approximately $3.00, or $0.008 per day (less than a cent).

Throughout the reporting period we maintained contact with the public through our website, holding meetings with key stakeholders and the general public, conducting interviews with print and TV media, participation in public forums and on panels, attendance at civilian oversight conferences, and a great source of weekly activities our newsletter. We continue to work with community stakeholders on outreach to the Latino community about our services, and we anticipate that the Community Engagement Coordinator position will help immensely in that task.

Progress and Results for 2015-2016 Goals

We have identified the following focus areas for 2015 and 2016 but the primary focus is continuing implementation of the tracking of stops to determine if individual or systemic patterns of bias are occurring. This is currently in the testing phase at EPD.

1. Implementation of data tracking for demographics of police contacts to determine if individual or systemic patterns of bias are occurring.
 - We had hoped this would have paced more quickly, but EPD has a pilot project now in place, in which volunteers within the police department are tracking the demographics of the people with whom they come into contact. The nature of our office as a complaint-based, reactive system has been a limitation in our ability to encourage a speedier implementation of this program; it seems likely that movement toward a more inspector-general, proactive system would increase the influence that our office may have on this front.
2. Collaborate with EPD Internal Affairs and Professional Standards staff to create and implement a new classification system that more accurately classifies, routes, and tracks complaints.
 - The new classification system was agreed to by our office and Professional Standards in December 2015. It is now in place, but implementation will be more secure if and when the police employees' union and EPD can include it in their ongoing collective bargaining process.
 - The new classification system means that the statistics presented in the 2016 Annual Report will look significantly different than below.
3. Continue with implementation of community engagement strategy.
 - Our office worked with Human Resources and the Finance Department to create a position of Community Engagement Coordinator, which will be filled in 2016.
 - CRB members are working to represent the Board at community events and to create new opportunities for the Auditor and CRB members to inform the community regarding the civilian oversight system in Eugene.
4. Work with EPD to ensure policies are up to date and comport with best practices, including policies surrounding sexual assault investigations and bias policing.
 - Staff worked with the Investigations supervisors, making recommendations regarding EPD's policies surrounding sexual assault investigations. We plan to make a recommendation to Police Commission that these are policies that should be reviewed and improved, especially in light of current federal efforts surrounding public universities and local government's investigation of Title IX complaints.

5. Provide excellent customer service to both internal and external reporting parties; work to provide clear, concise, and timely response to complaints.
 - Returned surveys indicate continued high satisfaction rates for the helpfulness of our office.
6. Work with EPD to create and implement system to track encounters, both positive and negative, with people apparently suffering from a mental health crisis, including PTSD and our veteran population.
 - Progress on this front is ongoing; as stated above, the privacy concerns related to such tracking have been an obstacle. We will continue to focus on this goal in 2016-2017.

Goals for 2016 – 2017

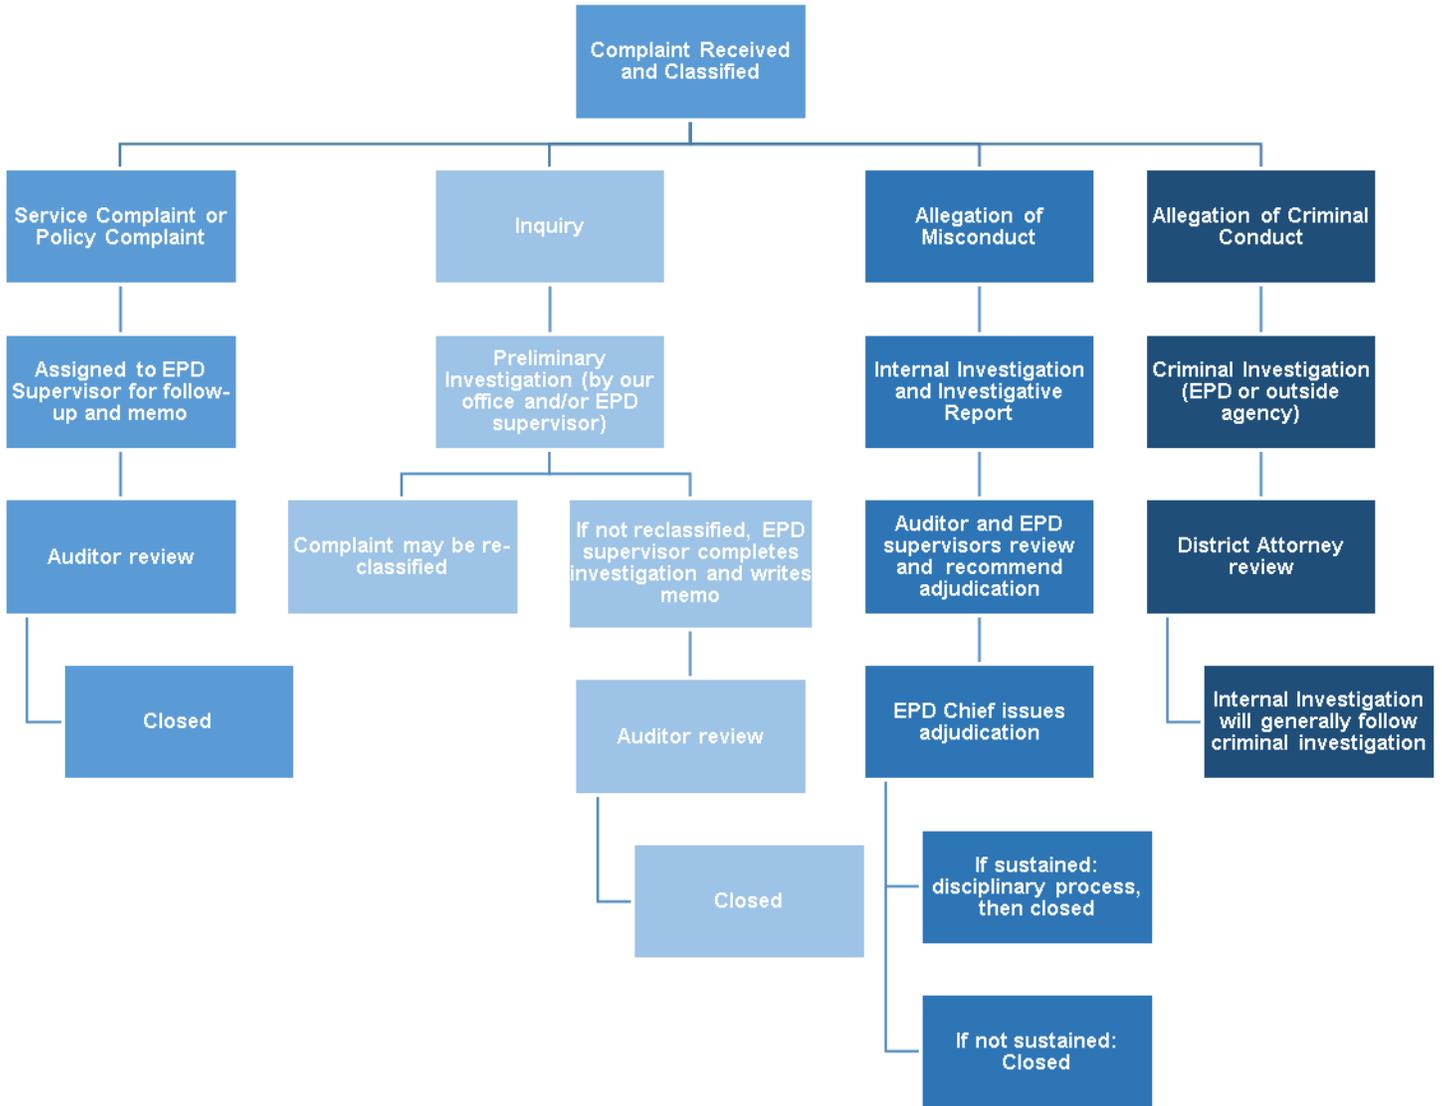

We have identified the following focus area for 2016 and 2017:

1. Continued improvement in community engagement with all community members, with a focus on underrepresented groups.
2. Work to improve the Interagency Deadly Force Investigation Team (IDFIT) model. This model has been a point of concern since my arrival in 2009, as it produces an investigation that is inadequate for the purposes of internal review of the employee's use of deadly force. The investigations that have been produced under the IDFIT model do not meet the high expectations of this office and are not of the same quality as the internal investigations conducted by EPD. Officer-involved shootings are the most important and controversial incidents that can occur in policing, and it is critical that the pursuant investigations meet the highest standards of scrutiny.
3. Continue to provide excellent customer service to internal and external reporting parties.
4. Continue to meet and exceed staffing expectations for CRB.

Primary Challenges for 2016 – 2017

1. Cultural trajectory at EPD, from a crime-focused model to a constitutional-policing and legitimacy-based model, which is being developed and used in in-service training.
2. Work surrounding constitutional stops and detentions.

Complaint Process

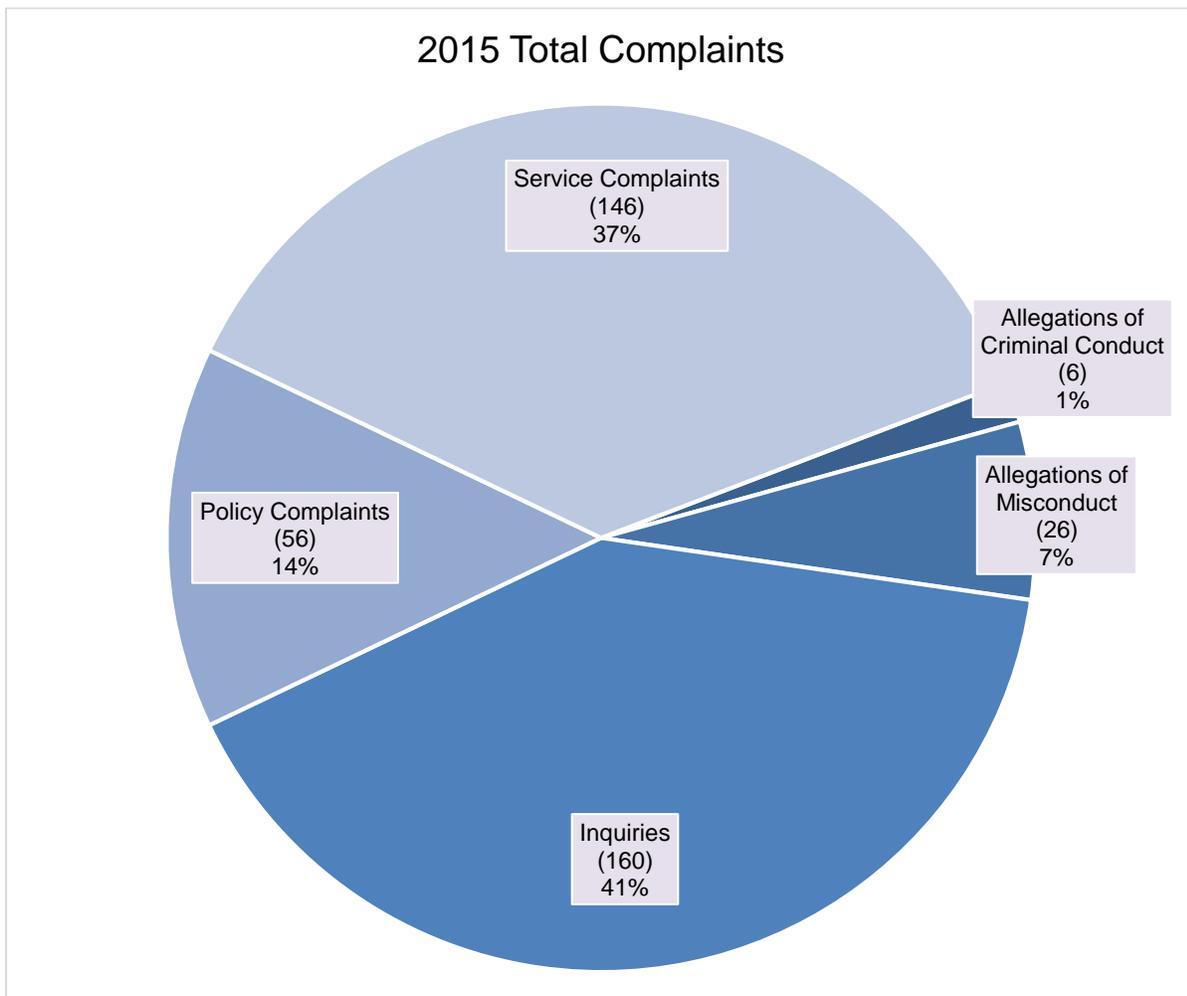

Any complaint may be selected for possible mediation, which follows a different process.

Community Impact Cases and complaints against the EPD Chief follow the processes set out in Eugene City Code §2.244 and §2.454, respectively.

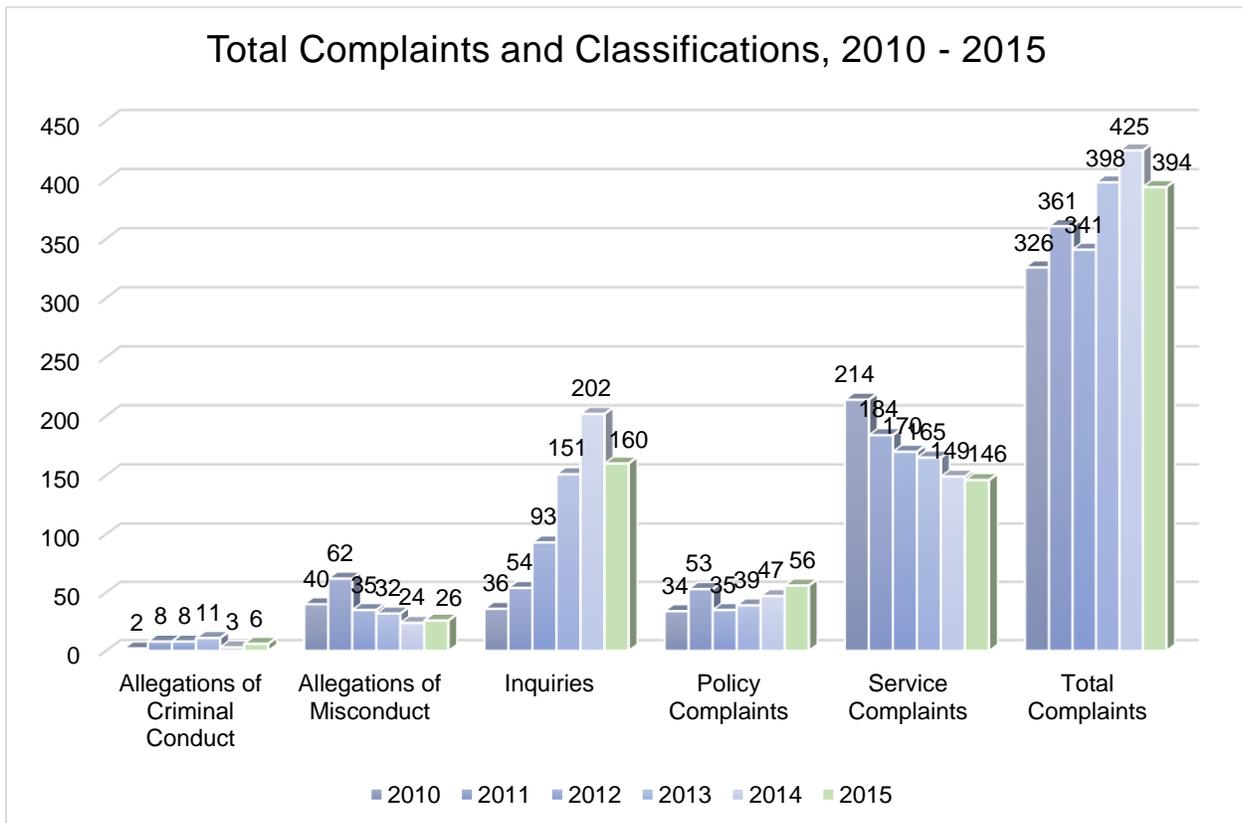

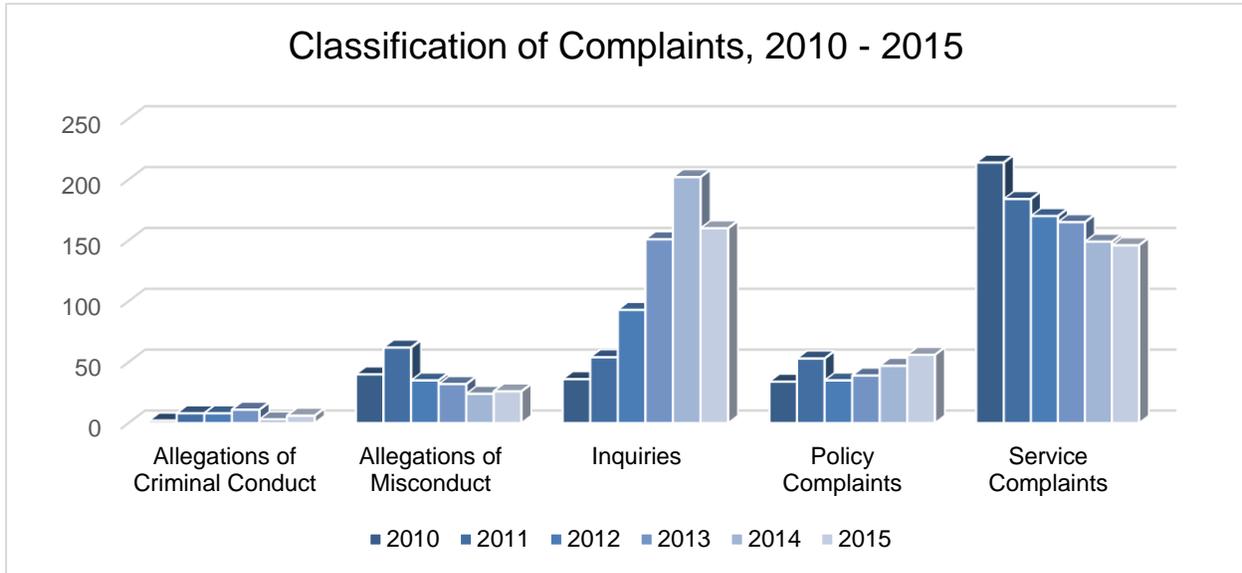

2015 Complaint Statistics

The Auditor's Office received 394 complaints in 2015. This was a 7.3% decrease from the 425 complaints received in 2014. The majority of complaints were classified as inquiries and service complaints (160 inquiries, or 40.6% of total complaints, and 146 service complaints, or 37% of total complaints). Our office also participated in a Deadly Force Review Board and a Use of Force Review Board (further details included below).

Classification	Number of Complaints
Allegation of Criminal Conduct	6
Allegation of Misconduct	26
Inquiry	160
Policy Complaint	56
Service Complaint	146

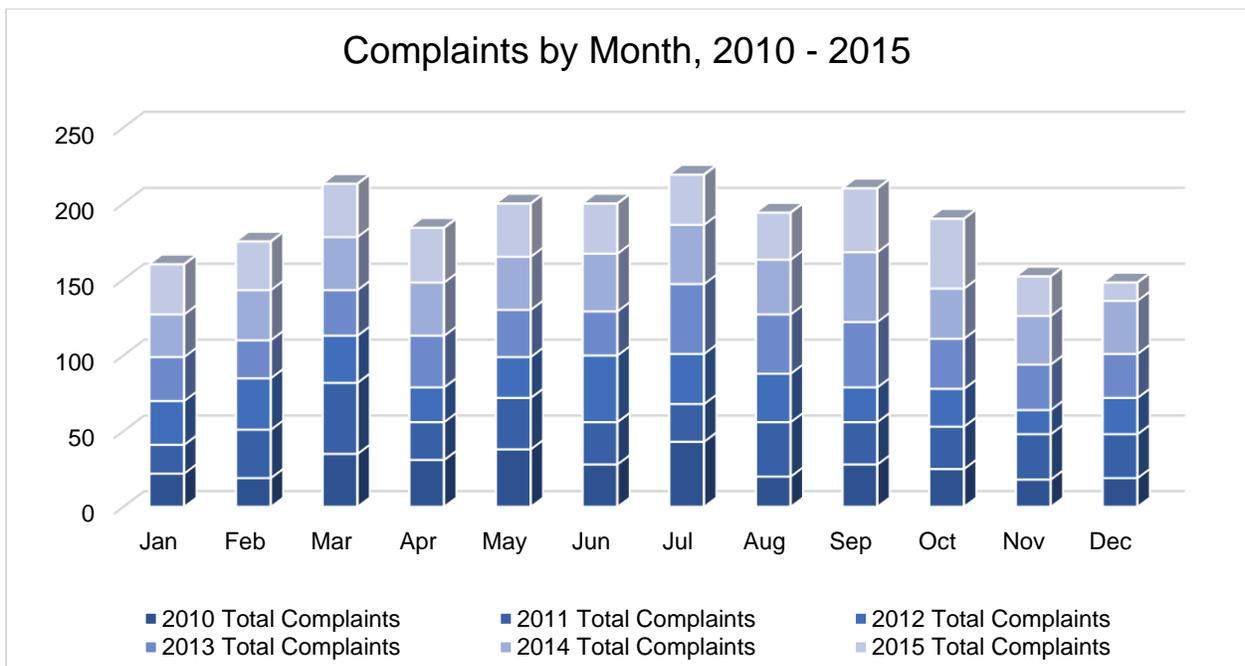

Allegations increased slightly, from 24 in 2014 to 26 in 2015. Policy complaints also increased (from 47 to 56, an increase of 16%). Inquiries decreased just over 20%, with 160 in 2015 compared to 202 in 2014. Service complaints remained steady, with 149 in 2014 and 146 in 2015.

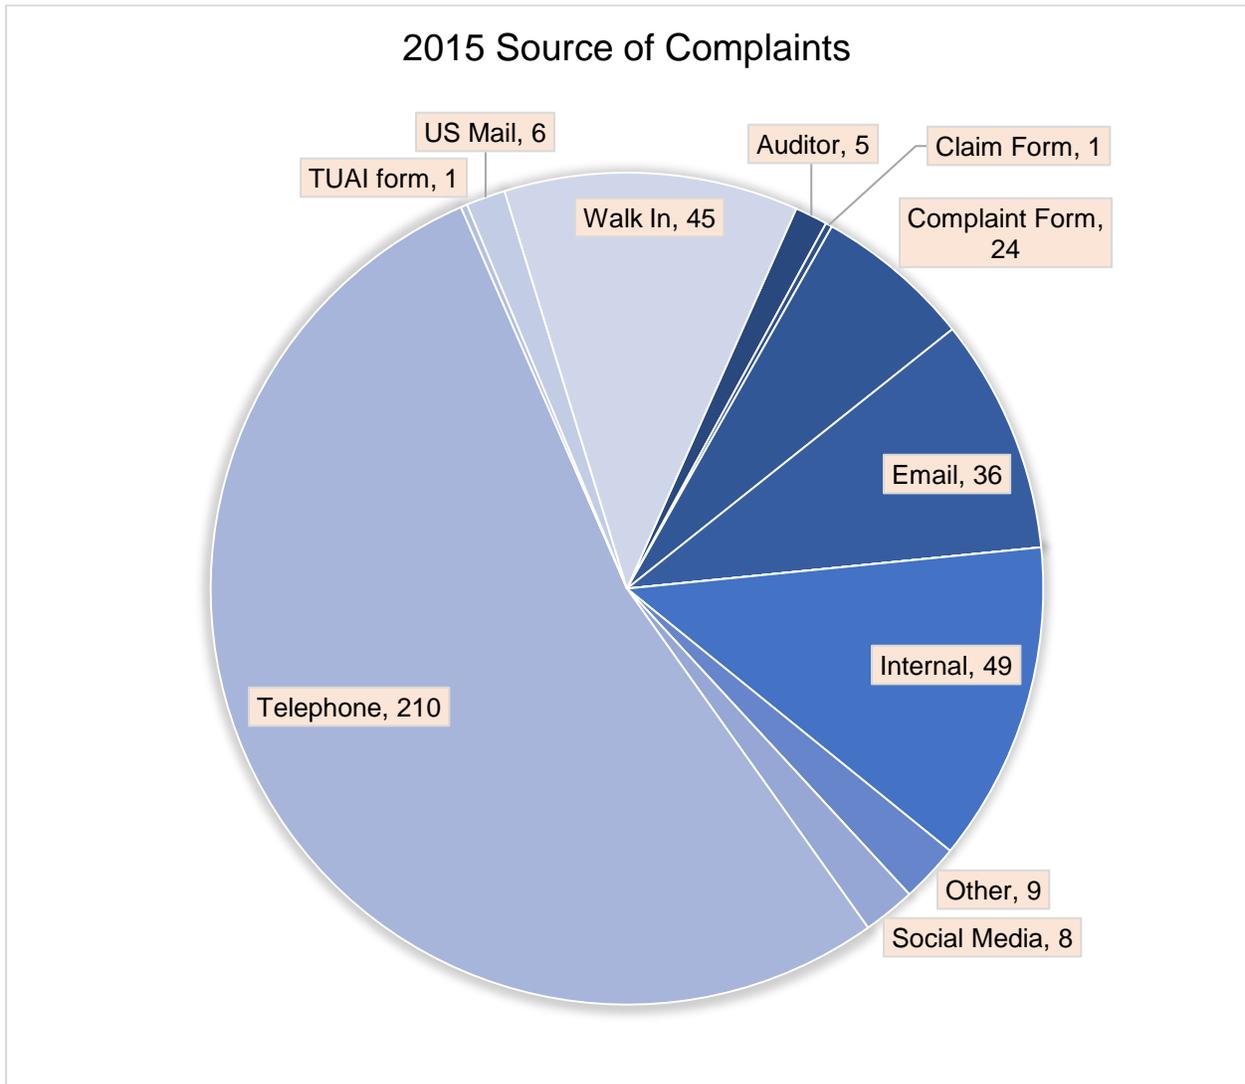

We received an average of 32.8 complaints per month, with a clear increase in September (42) and October (46); complaints dropped off sharply in November (26) and December (12). This was a 7.3% decrease from 2014's average of 35.4 complaints per month.

Data from the past six years shows that we generally have an increased number of complaints in the warmer months, with complaints dropping off November – January.

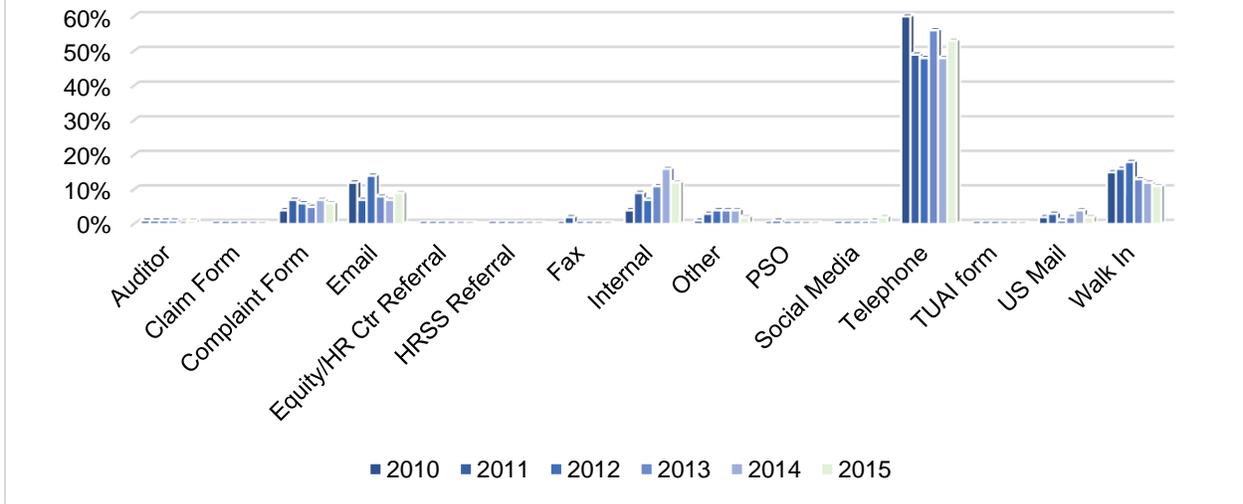

The majority of our complaints continue to be taken by phone (210 complaints, or 53% of our total). Complaints that are internally reported continue to constitute a significant portion of our total (49 complaints, or 12% of the total). Our walk-in rate remains steady, and the percentage of complaints received via email and social media showed a slight increase (from 7% to 9% and 1% to 2%, respectively).

The telephone has consistently been the most common way for us to receive complaints. Methods such as referrals from the Equity and Human Rights office, submissions of EPD’s “Tell Us About It” (TUAI) form, fax, referrals from the City’s Public Service Officer, and submission of risk claim forms, have remained consistently low over the years.

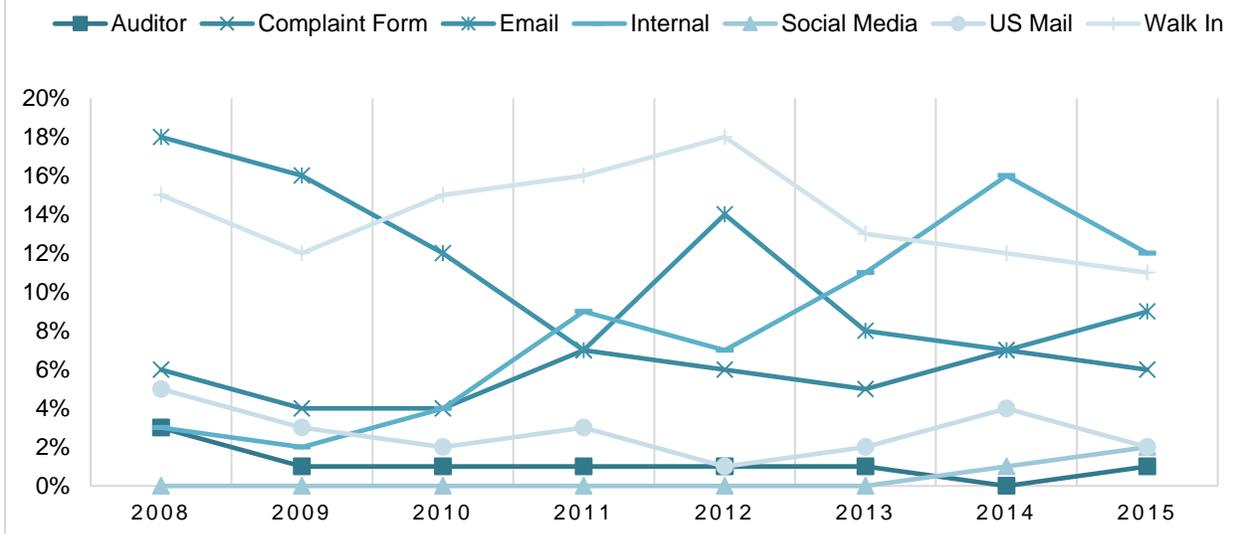

Complaint Source as Percent of Annual Total Complaints, 2010 - 2015

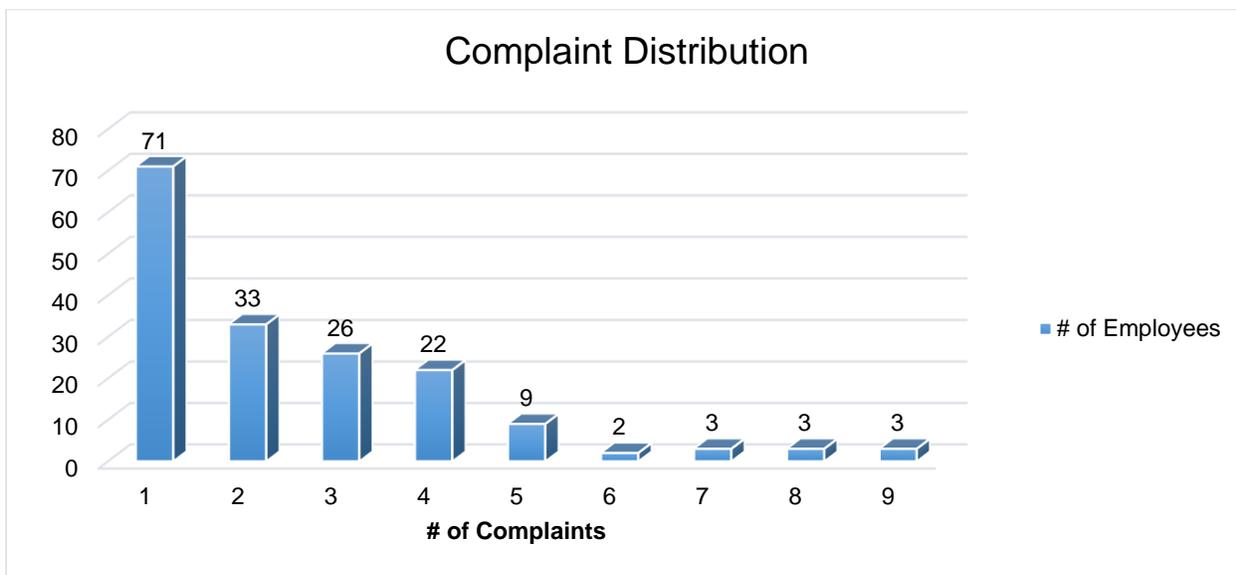

Internal complaints have increased over the years; internally reported complaints consisted of 2-4% of the total complaints in 2008-2010, increased to 16% of complaints in 2014, and decreased slightly to 12% of complaints in 2015. Auditor-initiated complaints have remained steady at about 1% of total complaints.

2015 saw a decrease in the percentage of complaints received from walk-in contacts, from 15% to 11% of our total. The number of complaints received from our complaint form remained steady at 6%. 340 of our 394 complaints (86%) were received from community members.

Select Complaint Sources, 2008 - 2015

Complaints were distributed among 172 employees. 41% of those employees (71 employees) had only one complaint levied against them. Three employees received 9 complaints; another 3 employees received 8 complaints, and another 3 received 7 complaints.

* Please note, some complaints name more than one employee.

Our office is the intake point for complaints for all employees of EPD, including sworn and non-sworn employees (a total of 307 employees, as of July 2016). The 172 employees with complaints represent 56% of the employees at EPD.

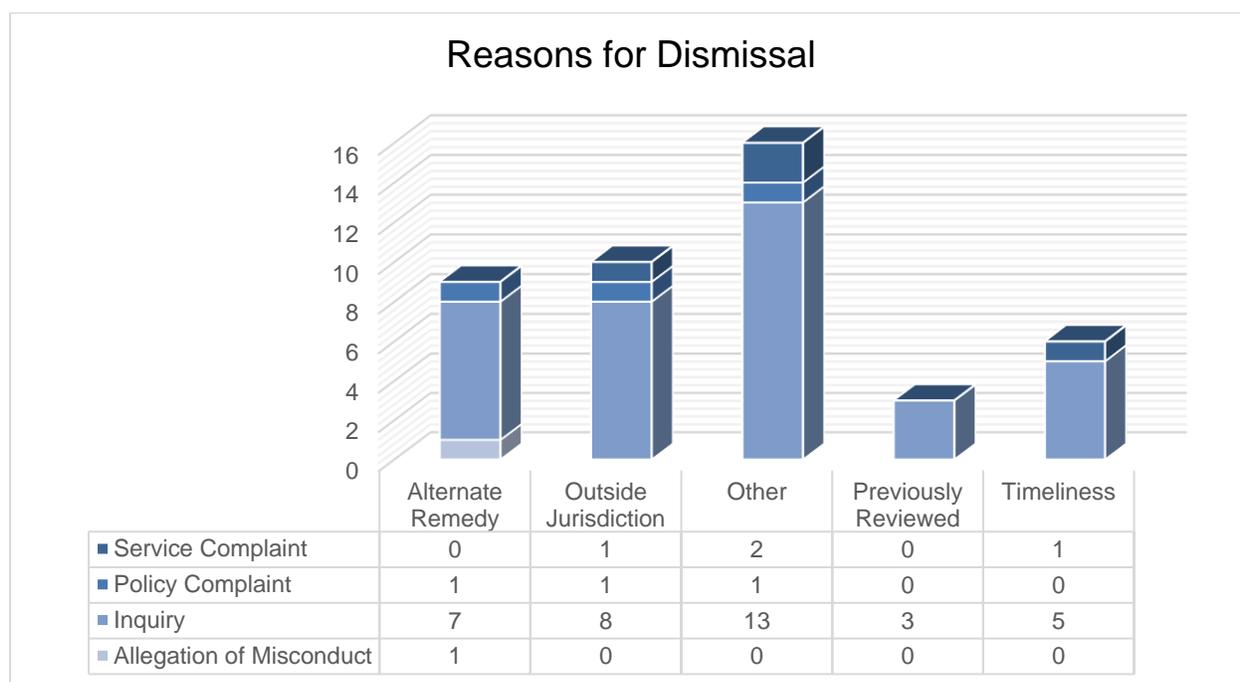

Table 1. 2015 Complaints by Number of Employees

	Number of Employees	Number of Complaints Received	Percent of All EPD Employees
Employees with Complaints	172	394	56.0%
	71	1	23.1%
	33	2	10.7%
	26	3	8.5%
	22	4	7.2%
	9	5	2.9%
	2	6	0.7%
	3	7	1.0%
	3	8	1.0%
	3	9	1.0%
Employees with No Complaints	135	0	44.0%
Total	307	394	100%

The distribution of sustained allegations of misconduct among employees, as opposed to complaints (which may be unfounded) is addressed below.

Dismissals

Of the 394 complaints received in 2015, 41 were dismissed (10.4%). This was a decrease from the 13.4% of complaints that were dismissed in 2014. The number of complaints dismissed for a lack of timeliness remained steady at just over 1% - hopefully an indication that members of the community who wish to file a complaint know about our office and therefore are able to file their complaints in a timely manner.

Similar to 2013 and 2014, inquiries were dismissed far more than other classifications of complaints. This reflects our thorough preliminary investigations – often, a complaint will be classified as an inquiry while we perform a preliminary investigation. The additional information gained in that investigation may allow us to dismiss a complaint where appropriate. Often, in-car video (ICV) is included as part of the preliminary investigation; where it is clear from the video that the involved employee followed policy, the complaint may be dismissed (these would fall under the category of dismissed-Other, above). This practice is discussed in further detail below.

Allegations

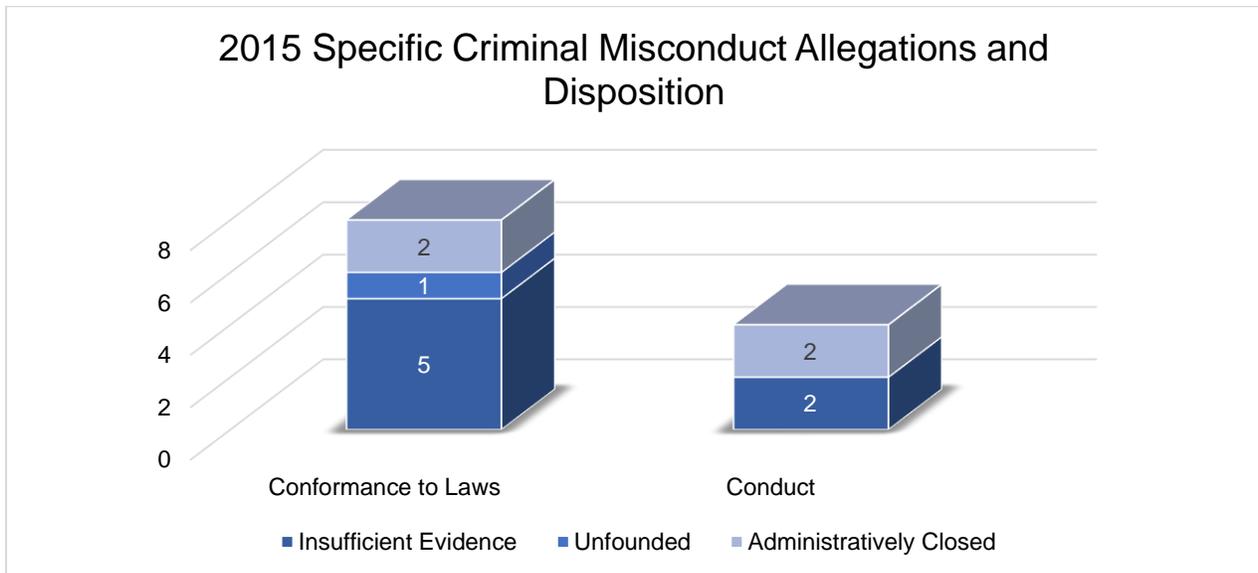

A complaint is classified as an allegation if it alleges serious misconduct. There are two main categories of allegations: allegations of criminal conduct (where the actions alleged, if found to be true, would constitute criminal conduct by an employee) or allegations of misconduct (where the actions alleged constitute a major rules violation, including excessive force that causes physical injury or egregious acts of disparate treatment).

Criminal Conduct

The Auditor's office received 6 complaints in 2015 that were classified as allegations of criminal conduct. This doubled the 3 complaints of criminal conduct that we received in 2014; however, it is only slightly more than half of the 11 such complaints we received in 2013. The 6 complaints included 7 separate allegations of violations of law and/or policy (one complaint involved two employees).

Table 2. 2015 Specific Allegations of Criminal Misconduct

	# of Allegations	Insufficient Evidence	Unfounded	Administratively Closed
Conformance to Laws	5	1	2	2
Conduct	2	0	0	2
Totals	7	1	2	4

The criminal misconduct allegations were as follows:

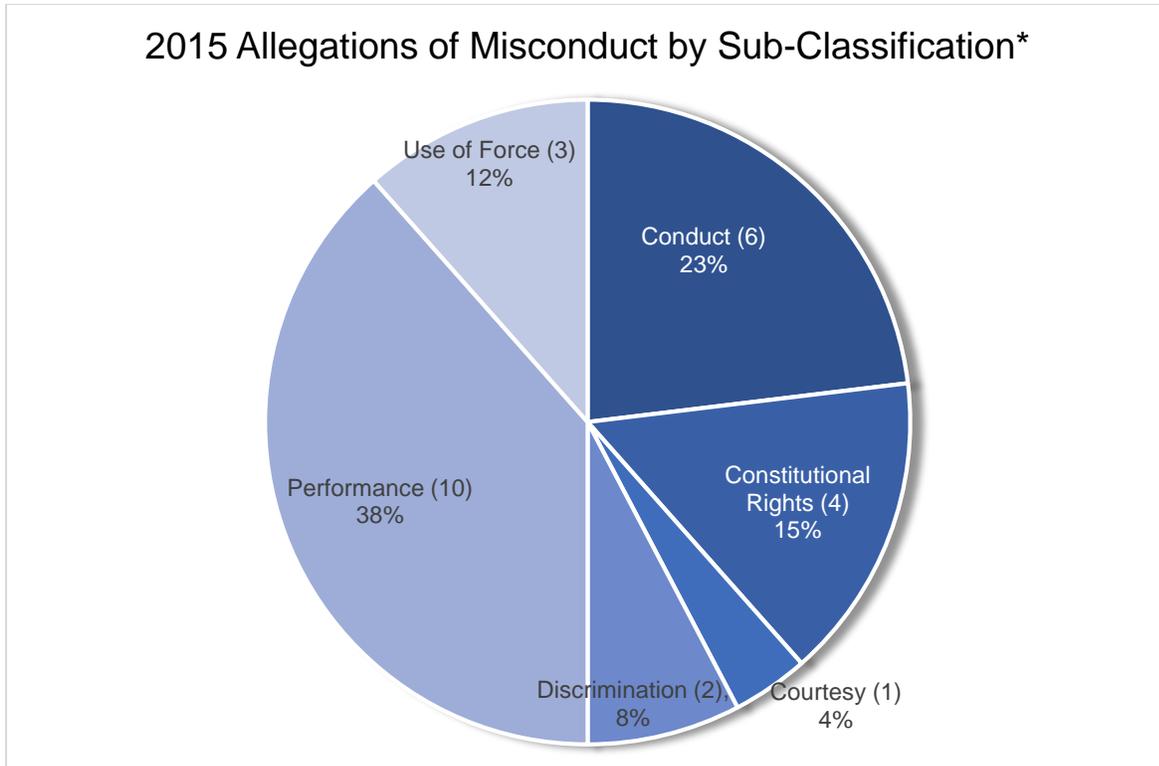

- An employee was arrested by an outside agency. The employee was placed on administrative leave during the investigation. The criminal investigation, conducted by the outside agency, resulted in the charges being dismissed. The subsequent administrative investigation, while thorough, uncovered insufficient evidence to determine whether the employee violated policy. The employee returned to work at the close of the investigation.

- An employee discovered illegal drugs in a locker room at EPD while looking for another employee's camera. A criminal investigation was initiated to attempt to determine the source of the drugs (related internal investigations were initiated related to evidence handling and reporting of the discovery). While all investigative steps were followed, the involved employee was not identified, and the complaint was administratively closed.
- An employee, while seeking guidance from a supervisor on workplace concerns, revealed to that supervisor that the employee had recorded conversations with a different supervisor without first informing that supervisor. The conduct appeared to violate state statute. The Lane County District Attorney reviewed the investigation and did not have interest in prosecuting the case. The complaint was therefore administratively closed.
- A reporting party complained that two employees had taken money from her during her arrest. The investigation included in-car video of the incident, as well as related police report and interviews with jail staff. There was no evidence to support the allegation. The Lane County District Attorney reviewed the investigation and concurred. The complaint was adjudicated as unfounded and closed.
- A reporting party indicated in a jail intake that she had been sexually assaulted by an EPD employee several years earlier. She stated that the employee had been prosecuted and convicted of multiple sexual assaults and had been sentenced to a long prison term. The criminal investigation showed that the alleged incident had occurred when EPD officers Magana and Lara were committing similar crimes in the community. The reporting party had not been contacted as part of that investigation. The assigned investigator made initial contact with the reporting party but was unsuccessful in obtaining a full interview or in providing a photo lineup. The complaint was administratively closed pending further contact from the reporting party.
- A reporting party implied to an EPD supervisor that an employee had suggested she provide sexual favors in lieu of a citation. A criminal investigation followed. The reporting party indicated during that investigation that there had been a misunderstanding and refused to cooperate further. The investigation included interviews with several of the reporting party's acquaintances, none of whom could remember the reporting party discussing any such incident. The employee denied making any similar statements to the reporting party. The District Attorney's Office reviewed the investigation and found "no basis to pursue a criminal prosecution ... or to criminally investigate this matter further." The subsequent administrative investigation uncovered no evidence of a policy violation, and the complaint was administratively closed.

Misconduct

In 2015, the Auditor's office received 26 complaints (from both internal and external sources) alleging serious misconduct. Most allegations were related to unsatisfactory performance; we also received allegations related to conduct, constitutional rights, use of force, discrimination, and courtesy (in descending order based on number of complaints). Allegations of misconduct are investigated by Internal Affairs sergeants, and the Auditor's office participates in and oversees those investigations. The 26 complaints alleging serious misconduct included 58 specific alleged policy violations by EPD employees.

15 of the 26 complaints were sustained – about 58%. This is a decrease from 2014's high of 79%, but it is higher than the sustained rates for 2011 – 2013 (30%, 29%, and 44%, respectively). Four complaints were found to be within policy (15%), and two were referred for mediation. All complaints except one have been adjudicated, though three still have disciplinary action pending (as of July 4, 2016).

The following table and graph illustrate in further detail the types of allegations we received in 2015 and their outcomes (instead of addressing only the primary allegation). The primary allegation is designated within the Internal Affairs database that we share with EPD, using the primary of what may be several allegations against several officers.

2015 Specific Allegations and Disposition

The most common specific policy violation alleged was unsatisfactory performance, with 11 allegations (7 sustained). We also received 5 specific allegations related to evidence handling (3 sustained) and professional police contacts (the policy which addresses bias-based policing, or racial profiling). Two of the allegations related to professional police contacts were referred for mediation. 23 of the 58 total specific allegations were externally reported (40%).

Discipline for specific sustained allegations varied. The purview of our office is limited to the investigatory process; we are excluded from commenting on discipline of EPD employees. However, in the interests of transparency, discipline information is provided below.

Allegations were distributed among 25 employees, or 8.1% of EPD employees. One employee had 12 sustained allegations, another had 4, and another had 3. Eight other employees had one sustained allegation each.

Inquiries

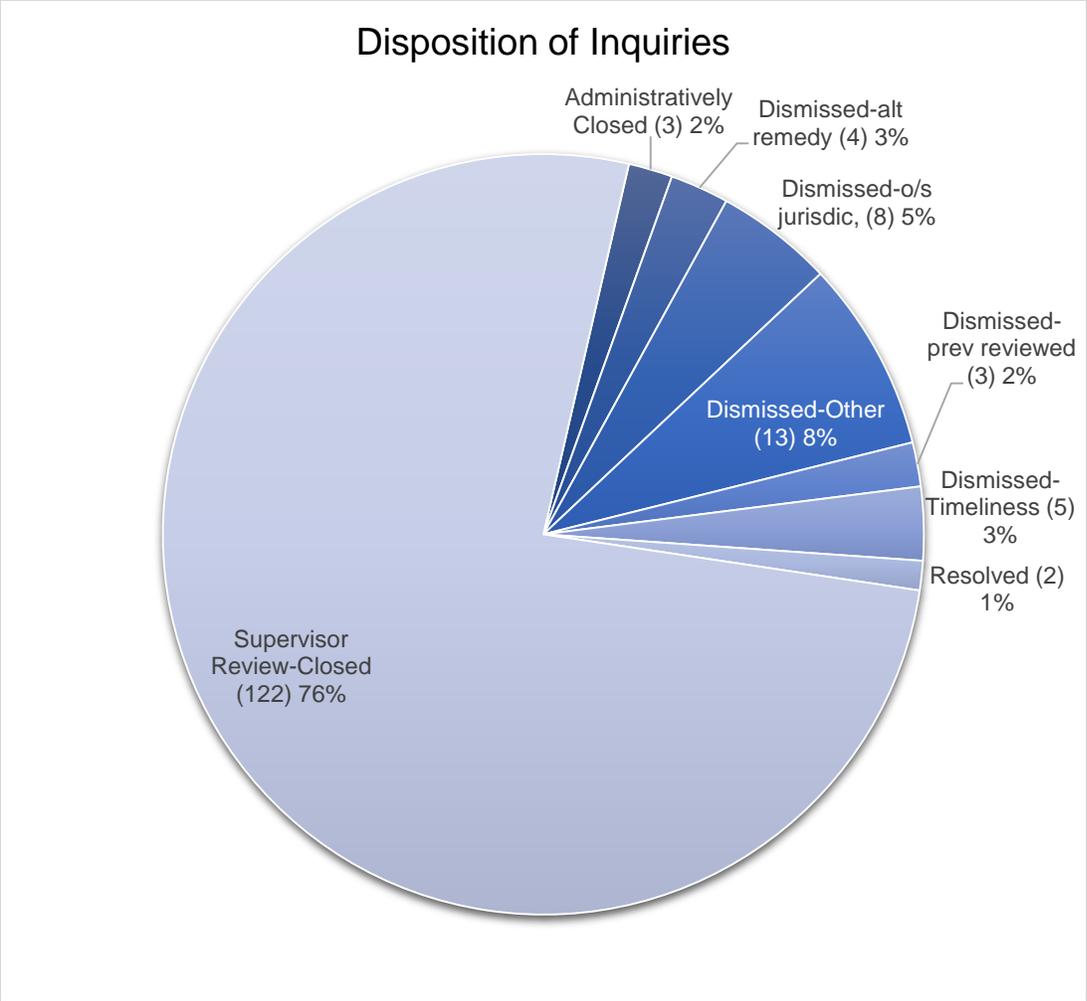

Inquiries, service complaints, and policy complaints are handled in a different manner than allegations of criminal conduct or misconduct. A complaint may be classified as an inquiry where it involves a “question about the propriety of an employee’s actions or a department policy, procedure, or regulation in a manner which indicates dissatisfaction, but which does not necessarily constitute or imply an allegation of misconduct.” EPD Police Operations Manual (POM) 1102-3, Part I.A.1. An inquiry may be investigated by a supervisor, Internal Affairs sergeant, or the Internal Affairs coordinator, as appropriate. The Auditor’s Office is kept informed regarding the progress of inquiries and will contact the reporting party with a resolution.

Inquiries increased steadily from 2012 to 2014, but 2015 showed a decrease to 160 inquiries (41% of total complaints) from 202 in 2014 (which constituted 47% of total complaints that year). The overall increase in inquiries over the past several years is likely related to our evolving classification process; our office has continued to focus on improving preliminary investigations of complaints, and often complaints are classified as inquiries until the preliminary investigation has developed. Often, inquiries will be reclassified to allegations, service complaints, or policy complaints depending on what is discovered in the preliminary investigation.

This theory is supported by the sharp decrease in dismissed allegations over the past few years. In 2011, 15 specific allegations of misconduct (from several different complaints) were dismissed for various reasons. Only one specific allegation was dismissed in 2015 (and none in 2014).

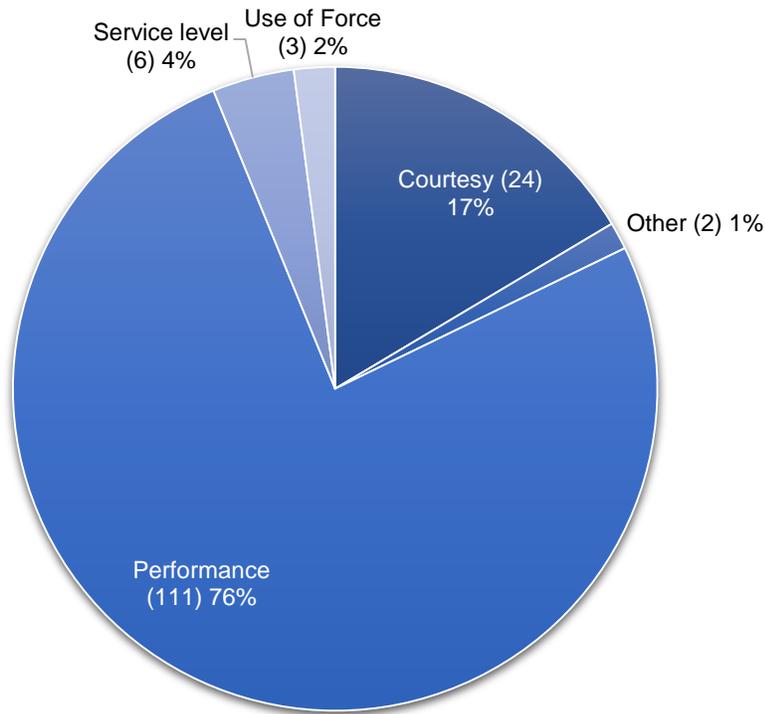

A little over 76% of the inquiries received in 2015 were reviewed and/or resolved, either by EPD supervisors or the Auditor’s Office. 33 inquiries were dismissed for various reasons, as shown below.

Service Complaints

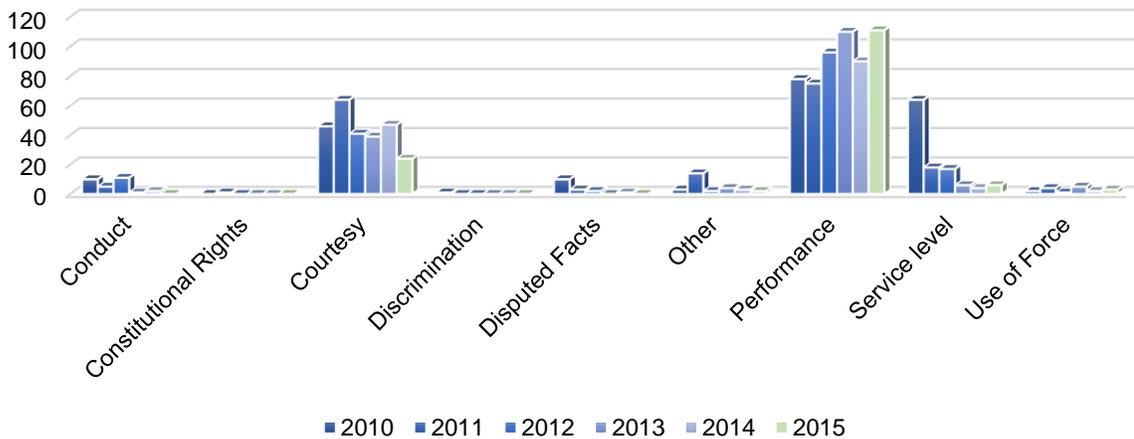

Service complaints are complaints “about police employee performance or demeanor, customer service and/or level of police service.” E.C.C. § 2.452. Generally, service complaints are referred to the supervisor of the involved officer(s) for follow up with both the complainant and the involved officer(s). The supervisor will write a memo detailing their review of the complaint and contact with the involved parties, which the Auditor’s Office reviews for completeness and thoroughness. The Auditor’s Office then contacts the complaining party for a follow up survey.

2015 Service Complaints by Sub-Classification

As in previous years, the majority of service complaints were related to performance or courtesy. However, courtesy complaints were sharply down from recent years – a 49% decrease – from 47 in 2014 to 24 in 2015.

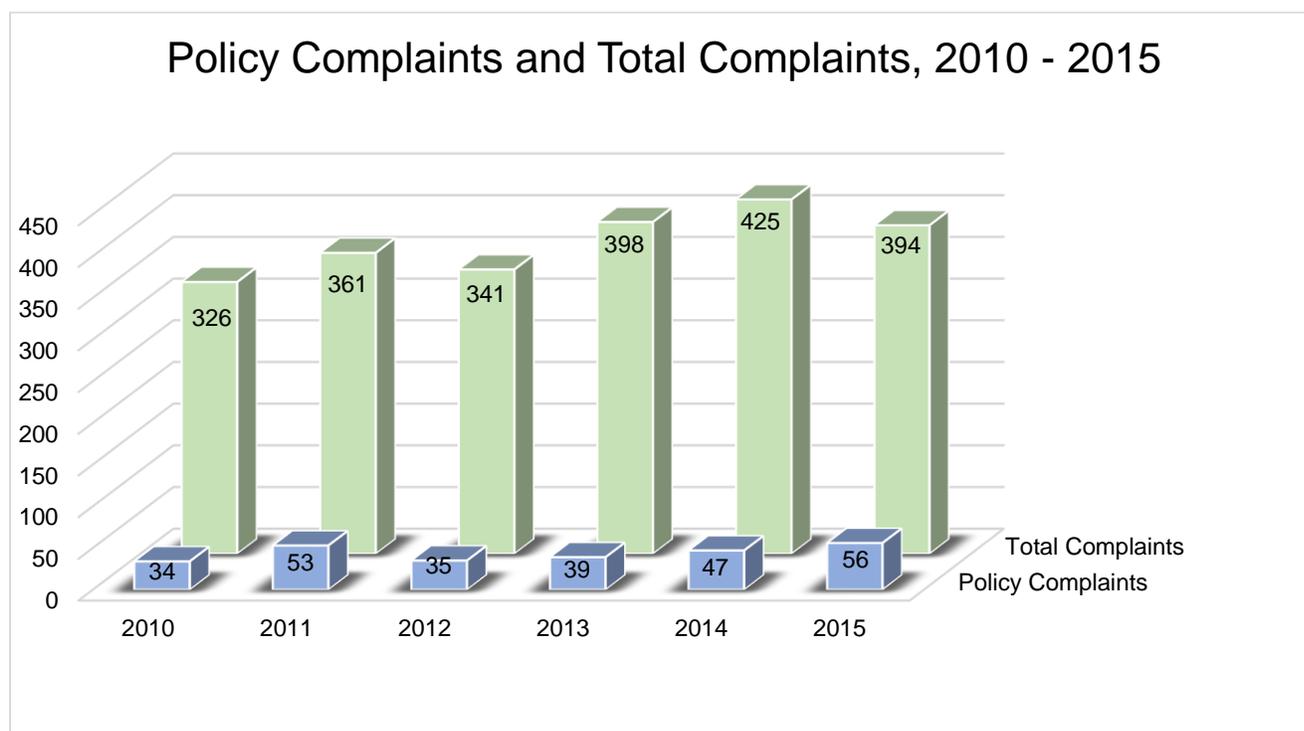

Service Complaints by Sub-Classification, 2010 - 2015

Policy Complaints

Complaints are classified as policy complaints where the complainant “is dissatisfied with current policies or established procedures.” Civilian Oversight Protocols, Classification of Complaints 1.d. These complaints are referred to either a supervisor (where appropriate) or an Internal Affairs sergeant. For example, a policy complaint may be investigated by a supervisor where a particular officer, division, or program is the focus of the complaint. Similar to a service complaint, the investigator will contact the complainant, as well as any involved officer(s), and write a memo detailing their resolution of the complaint. The Auditor’s office reviews the memo and follows up with the complaining party.

Policy complaints increased again in 2015; we received 56 policy complaints in 2015, compared to 47 in 2014 (an increase of about 16%). Policy complaints also constituted a higher percentage of our overall complaints in 2015 – up to 14% from 11% in 2014.

Inquiry/Service Complaint/Policy Complaint Surveys

In 2015, we received 47 returned surveys. This survey is sent at the close of each inquiry, service complaint, and policy complaint unless (1) the complaint was internally generated, (2) the complaint was generated by our office, or (3) the reporting party indicated that they did not want to be contacted or provided insufficient contact information. Our office sends a different survey form for reporting parties of complaints classified as allegations, but we did not receive any returned allegation surveys in 2015. We sent out approximately 360 Inquiry/policy complaint/service complaint surveys in 2015, for a response rate of about 13%.

The questions on the surveys are as follows:

- 1) Staff member(s) at the Office of the Police Auditor was/were helpful in taking my complaint.
- 2) Were you contacted by the EPD employee's supervisor?
- 3) If yes to #2, my concerns were addressed by the supervisor.
- 4) The supervisor listened to my concerns.
- 5) I am satisfied with the outcome of the complaint investigation.
- 6) Would you have preferred to speak with the involved officer rather than the supervisor?

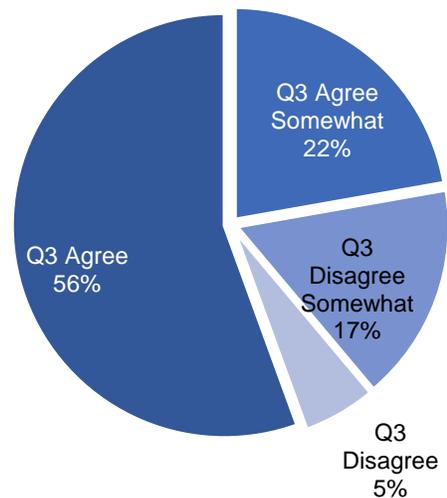

Questions #1, #3, #4, and #5 are answered with a ranking: Agree, Agree Somewhat, Disagree Somewhat, and Disagree. Question #2 is a yes or no question. We received 33 "Yes" answers and nine "No" answers; the remaining surveys did not answer the question.

Question #6 was added to the survey during 2011; it is a yes or no question and includes a space for comments. Of the 42 surveys that answered this question, 6 indicated that they would have liked to speak with the involved officer (whether in addition to or instead of speaking with the supervisor).

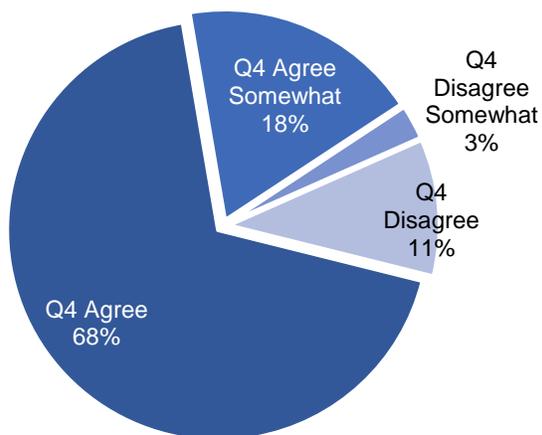

Question 1: Helpfulness of the Auditor's Office

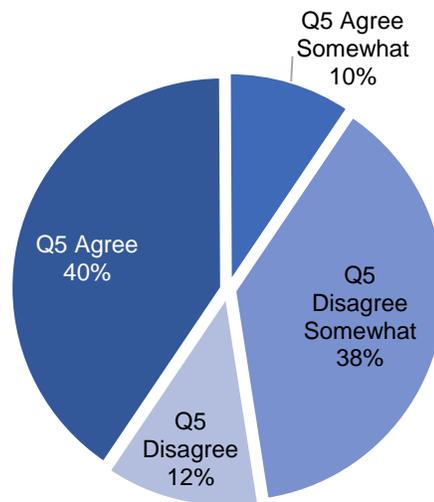

Question 3: Supervisor Addressed Concerns

Question 4: Supervisor Listened to Concerns

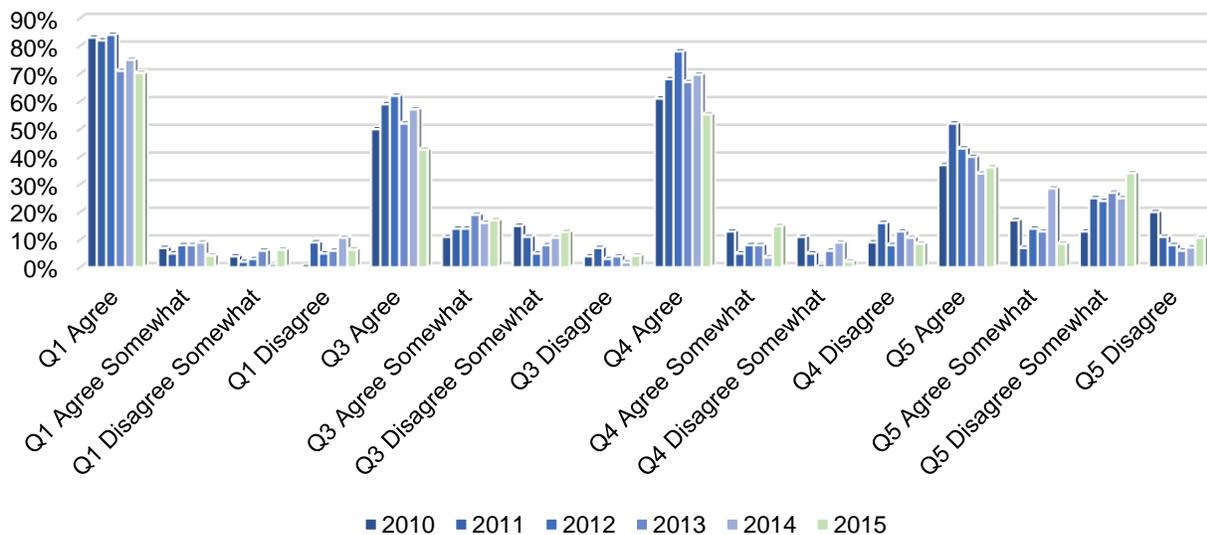

Question 5: Overall Satisfaction with Outcome

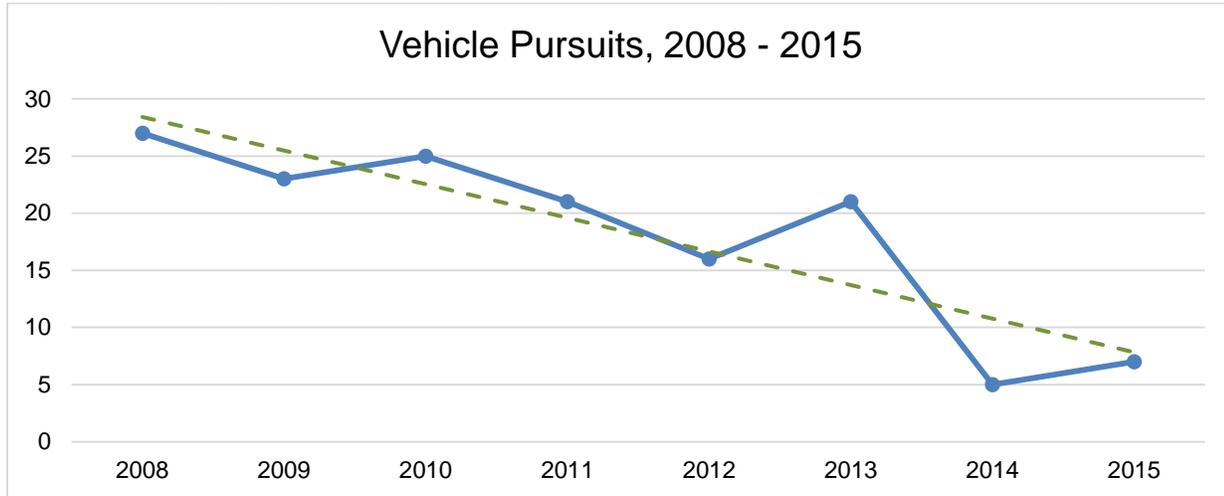

In 2015, 86% of respondents agreed or somewhat agreed that the Auditor’s Office was helpful in taking their complaint (Question 1). This number has remained steady since 2011. Overall satisfaction with the outcome decreased slightly – 50% in 2015 compared to our high in 2014 of 66%.

Service Complaint Surveys, 2010 - 2015

Vehicle Pursuits

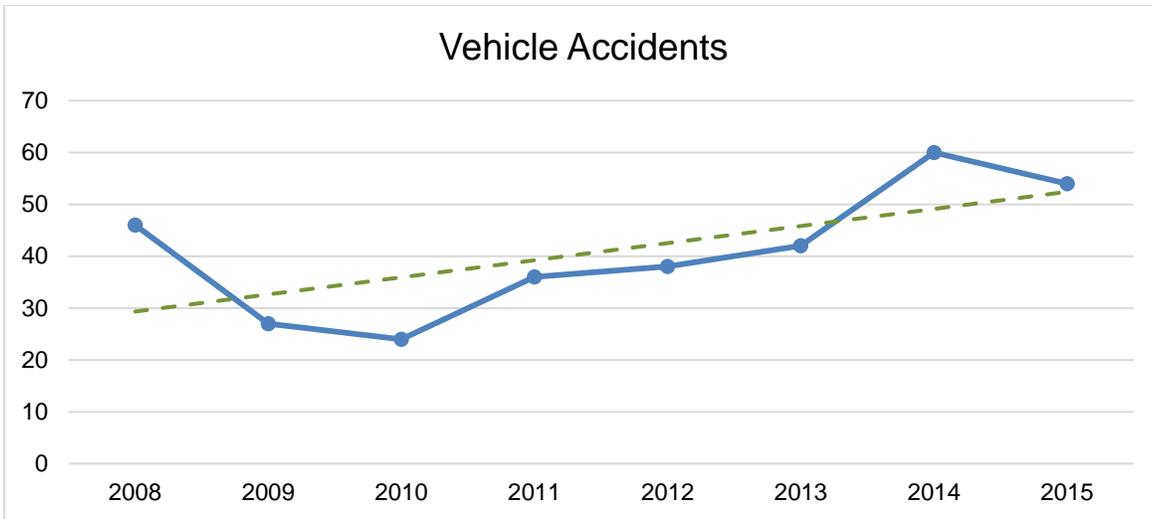

Vehicle pursuits remained low in 2015, with 7 compared to five in 2014. Our office focused on working with EPD to institute a new vehicle pursuit policy that became effective in February 2014, and we remain very pleased to see the decrease in the number of vehicle pursuits. Four of the pursuits were found to violate policy.

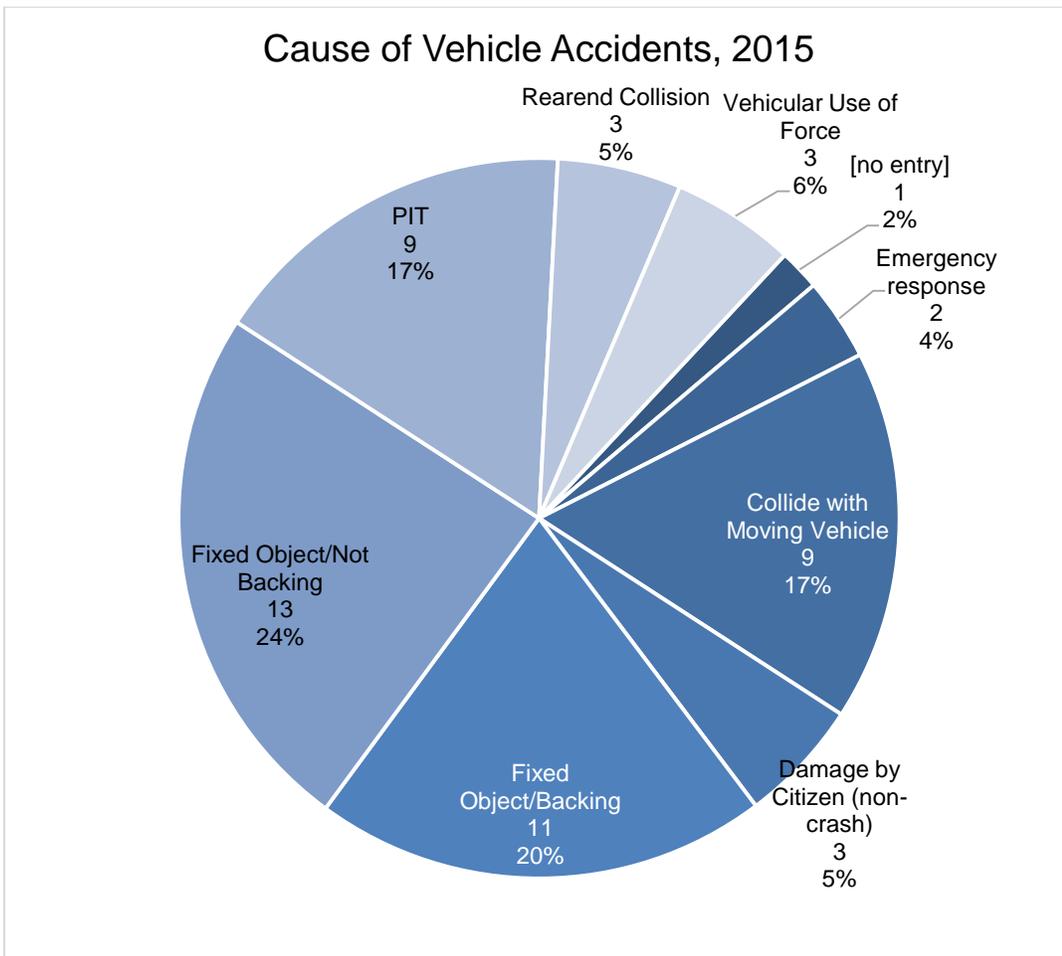

Every vehicle pursuit is reviewed by EPD's Emergency Vehicle Operations team and entered into the Internal Affairs database that our office shares with EPD. If either the EPD EVOC team, the EPD chain of command, or our office identifies a concern with the pursuit, an administrative investigation, conducted by Internal Affairs and with the participation of our office, may be initiated. Four of the pursuits in 2015 were found to violate policy.

Vehicle Accidents

Vehicle accident decreased slightly in 2015, to 54 (compared to 60 in 2014). This number remains high. Vehicle accidents are reviewed by the involved employee(s)' supervisor and entered into the Internal Affairs database that is shared between our office and EPD. The supervisor determines whether the involved employee was at fault or not at fault. Of the 54 vehicle accidents in 2015, 26 (48%) were determined to be the fault of the involved EPD employee.

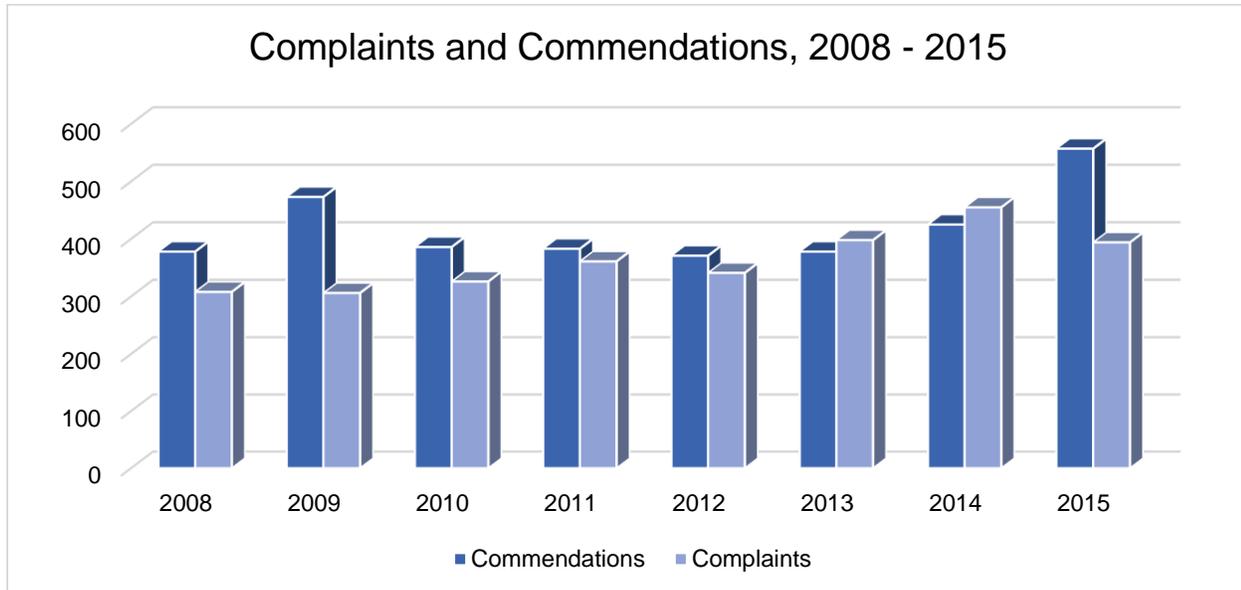

Approximately 44% (24) of the accidents were with fixed objects. Only two accidents (4%) were caused by the employee's emergency response. Twelve of the accidents (23%) were either vehicular uses of force or otherwise intentional maneuvers by the EPD employee in an attempt to force another vehicle to stop (called a PIT maneuver).

Commendations

The Auditor's Office and EPD continue to intake commendations, a total of 557 in 2015. This was a 31% increase from the 425 received in 2014, and it vastly outnumbered the 394 complaints received.

Community Impact Cases

The Auditor did not receive any complaints in 2015 that were designated as a community impact case.

Critical Incidents

There were two critical incidents in 2015; our office was notified in a timely manner in each case. The first was an officer-involved shooting on March 30, 2015; we were notified, responded to the scene, and participated in a Deadly Force Review Board as part of the administrative investigation of the incident. In addition, the Auditor issued an "Analysis and Recommendations" document (available on our website) and the CRB reviewed the shooting and pursuant investigation. Numerous concerns with the Interagency Deadly Force Investigation Team (IDFIT) investigation were noted by both the Auditor and CRB; however, the internal investigation met our expectations. The shooting itself was determined by the Deadly Force Review Board to be within policy.

Our office was also notified following an incident where two employees used a variety of force options, including challenging the involved citizen with their firearms and deploying the Taser. We participated in the Use of Force Review Board convened to discuss the incident. The Board unanimously found that the employees' actions during the incident were consistent with EPD policy.

Conclusion

We wish to also thank the outstanding volunteers for the Civilian Review Board, past and present, as well as members of the Police Commission and the Human Rights Commission. We truly appreciate the outstanding support provided by the Central Service Department for finances, information technology, budgets, human resources, payroll and other functions. The City Manager's office, the City Attorney's office, and the Eugene Police Department have all been helpful in assisting the Auditor's Office accomplish its core function and goals. Finally, we wish to thank the Mayor and City Councilors for having patience and taking the time and energy to be effectively involved in the evolution of the civilian oversight process in Eugene.
