Park Highlights

Skinner Butte Summit
Sitting 200 feet above Eugene, this is a great place to take in a view of the city. There are numerous trails leading to the top as well as a paved road. Just across from RiverPlay Playground, an easy trail winds its way through native habitats to the top of the butte.

RiverPlay Discovery Village
In Eugene's largest playground, children have the opportunity to scale a replica of Skinner Butte, uncover fossils at the ancient history sand dig, play with sand and water along the 30-foot mini-Willamette River, and more.

Owen Rose Garden
In a beautiful setting along the Willamette River, enjoy over 400 varieties of roses, picnic areas, a gazebo, pergola-covered walkways and Eugene's 160-year-old cherry tree. Visit the garden's web page to take a live look or video tour.

Dog Parks
Let those pups run at one of Eugene's four off-leash dog parks located in Alton Baker, Amazon Park, Candlelight Park and Wayne Morse Family Farm. Small dogs under 25 pounds have the option of visiting Little Dog Corner in Amazon Park.

Climbing Columns
In the heart of Eugene, climbers enjoy 50-foot high basalt columns with multiple cracks and more than 50 routes. Excellent for both beginner training and experienced climbers. Located on the west side of Skinner Butte Park.

The Cuthbert Amphitheater
Enjoy music under the stars at this beautiful outdoor amphitheater. Located at the edge of Alton Baker Park near the University of Oregon's Autzen Stadium, the Cuthbert features superb sound, beer gardens, food booths and an environment perfect for enjoying music performed live by the best touring bands in the country.

Hendricks Park
Overlooking the city, Eugene's oldest park encompasses 65 acres of forested trails, a native plant garden and the world-renowned rhododendron garden. For tour and volunteer information visit friendsofhenricksparke.org.

Community Gardens
Grow your own food in one of Eugene's six community gardens located across the city. Plots range from 200 to 400 square feet. Lottery registration begins in February. Learn more at eugene-or.gov/communitygardens.

Spray Play, Sand and Water Play Areas
Kids love cooling off and having fun in our spray play areas located in Washington Park, Oakmont Park, Fairmount Park and at RiverPlay Discovery Village in Skinner Butte Park. In addition, sand and water play areas are located at Bethel Community, Creekside, Filbert Meadows, Frank Kinney, Friendly, Gilham, Milton, Trainsong and Willakenzie Parks.

Delta Ponds
This 150-acre natural area in the heart of Eugene is one of the best places to see native wildlife up close. Take a stroll on walkways and little bridges through the ponds which are home to juvenile Chinook salmon, American beaver, Western pond turtle, river otter and neo-tropical migratory birds. You won't believe this restored side channel of the Willamette River used to be a gravel mine.

WJ Skatepark + Urban Plaza and Local Skateparks
The 23,000 square-foot WJ Skatepark was designed with both beginners and expert skaters in mind and includes an iconic ribbon, a mini-snake run, and a blend of varied skate terrain. Popular food trucks make regular visits to the urban plaza. Skateparks are also located at Amazon, Trainsong and Bethel Community Parks and Churchill and Cal Young Middle Schools.

Pre's Trail
At just over four miles, Pre's Trail runs through a vast natural area and was the inspiration of legendary runner Steve Prefontaine. Modeled after trails he had experienced in Scandinavia, the bark-covered trail winds through Alton Baker Park and connects to the University of Oregon via the Frohnmayer Bike Bridge.

West Eugene Wetlands
The nationally recognized West Eugene Wetlands offers 3,000 acres of vernal pools, wetlands, and prairie and oak savanna habitats—historically common in the Willamette Valley, but rare today. It is home to more than 200 wildlife species such as the Western meadowlark, dragonflies and damselflies, beavers, and Pacific chorus frogs. Enjoy miles of trails, interpretive signage and lookout spots.

Willamut Natural Area
Located in East Alton Baker Park, the 237-acre Willamut Natural Area offers a unique experience of upland prairie, oak savanna, and riparian woodland. Volunteers have helped restore the area to provide habitat for more than 100 bird species and a three-acre butterfly meadow. Feel like you've completely left the city by renting a kayak, canoe or paddle board from Northwest Canoe Tour and explore the canoe canal.

Ruth Bascom Riverfront Path
Bike, run, walk or stroll on this 12-mile path along both sides of the Willamette River. Wind your way through the Willamut Natural Area, RiverPlay Playground, Owen Rose Garden, Delta Ponds and more riverfront parks. Take in a great view of the Willamette River from one of the five bridges that cross it.

Ridgeline Park System
Located just a few minutes from downtown, the much-loved Ridgeline Park System offers over 1,300 acres of trails through forests of Douglas fir, ferns and vine maples. For the best view of the city, make the two-mile hike to the summit of Spencer Butte and you'll enjoy 360-degree views of the Willamette Valley, the Coast and Cascade ranges, and Autzen Stadium.
