Working Group Assignment

The project asked the community two key questions this fall: “What do you value about your neighborhood?” and “What are your ideas for the future?”

Our next challenge is to review the community answers to those questions and use words and images to craft a vision for the future.

Looking through the data, what themes do you see? What guiding principles should we define for the neighborhoods? What community values do we hold? Please brainstorm endings to the following sentence:

As neighbors, we value . . .
