City Council Meeting to Feature COVID-19 Update from Emergency Operations Center

The Eugene City Council will live stream its work session Wednesday and it will also have a call-in option for people to listen to (it is a one-way connection to listen only).

All City Council work sessions are streamed, and information about upcoming and previous meetings can be found at:

<https://www.eugene-or.gov/3360/Webcasts-and-Meeting-Materials>.

To listen to the meeting from your phone, dial one of the following phone numbers and enter the webinar ID number 170-196-989.

- 1-669-900-6833
- 1-346-248-7799
- 1-929-205-6099
- 1-253-215-8782
- 301-715-8592
- 1-312-626-6799

Most City public meetings have been suspended while we work to determine the best online or other remote options for participation. Some critical public meetings will begin to take place online or with the free call-in option. Information on all City meetings open to the public can be found eugene-or.gov/1972/Public-Meetings-Calendar.

If members of the media would like to request an interview after the work session, please contact Melinda McLaughlin, 541.682.5124, to arrange. Interviews can be by Skype, Zoom, Facetime, phone or other method allowing social distancing.
